ACROSS THE BAY AT PASS CHRISTIAN.

Our good and progressive friends of the classic city of Pass Christian, across Bay St. Louis are to be congratulated on the success which at tended their efforts Monday when they went to the polls and voted overwhelmingly in manifestation of their spirit for civic improvement.

By a vote of one to two they decided a proposed bond issue to the Facts are pliable things, easily amount of $60,000.00, in addition to their other recent bond issues for public improvement. This last proposition was voted upon in three separate forms, $25,000 to build a new city hall, $20,000 for a new school house for colored people, and $15,-000 for a new public pier.

Pass Christian will be the first Gulf Coast city to boast and to reap the reward of a municipally-owned pier, which, of course, makes it publie. This will easily prove an outstanding attraction to the many visitors, tourists and season residenters who come to the Gulf Coast.

One of the outstanding attractions that helped to make St. Petersburg, Flerida, popular with the winter tourist, was the building of a municipally-owned pier, with glassplace. This was some years since, when the place was of modest size President Morgan, of Dickinson and practically unknown. Since then, College, suggests dishwashing as a we are told, as the tourist came in college subject, but no great amount larger numbers each succeeding year, of enthusiasm has been aroused and were thus entertained, along with other means of divertisement, their number increased.

Incidentally, it might be noted our sister city across the Bay has improved of late at a remarkable rate. Not only is its front road, with its majestic oaks, handsome homes on rone side and the blue sea, with its inspiring view, where the horizon is dotted with sail and other propelled craft, is a perfect surface of modern paving, but its latteral and rear avenues are similarly covered, and every agent of modern improvement has been brought into play to better the place, to make its people more content with their city, to sav nothing of attracting thousands of visitors who come annually summer and

ONE MURDER IN YEAR.

According to a report recently given uot the city of Quebec, with a population of approximately 100,-000, was the scene of only one murder during the year 1925.

In the United States as a whole there are on an average approximately 10 murders each year out of each 100,000 of population, while in the cities of Memphis, Jacksonville ing the past five years has averaged nearly 60 murders per 100,000, or 60 times that of Quebec. In spite of the earnest efforts of sociologists and publicists to determine the cause and suggest a remedy land in Oklahoma, besides one sixth for the deplorable crime situation, of all oil produced.

no appreciable headway has been made in that direction.

Attempts to explain crime as an aftermath of the war fall flat when it is considered that the homicide rate in England, Canada, Australia, South Africa, New Zealand and other English-speaking countries averages only about one-tenth that of the United States, yet all these were in the war from beginning to end and suffered from its effects in every way immeasurably more than we did. It is declared by a recent writer that only one murderer out of 160 is executed in New York, while 70 out of 100 are hanged in London This may have something to do with our high murder rate.

"Oh, you team! That's it, keep up the wonderful work, Gold J.'s!" The Gold J.'s and Red J.'s put one over on the "Speeders," of New Orleans, Sunday, by winning both games. On both sides there was a dogged determination of win. However, the invincible Gold J.'s proved the stronger, coming out with a victorious score, 24-21. Loud and lusty was the cheering!

The Gym resounded with the yells! "Yen team, fight! fight! fight!" This week has been one of real hard work for the team, but they are better than ever, for they firmly believe in the old adage, "Practice makes perfect." Come on, Gold J.'s, continue the splendid work, and very for game!

Good luck to you, Gold J.'s! Perkinston Game Postponed.

"Oh, that's a shame!" "Why did they do it?" "And after planning it for such a long time-" Such remarks were made Tuesday morning, when a letter arrived stating the postponement of the game with Perkinston. Regret and disappointment were on every countenance. However, the game has been scheduled for a later date and we were pleased by this news, but it wasn't enough to cover the disappointment. We feel fully assured that the Gold J.'s will work just as hard or rather harder to win that

"We have Never Lowered the Quality to Reduce the Price"

Since 1903, when the Ford Motor Company was formed, Ford cars have been constantly improved in quality, comfort, convenience and appearance. Recent improvements include new and attractive body lines-a lower center of gravity-closed cars in color, and allsteel bodies.

The basic features of Ford design have been retained. Three point motor suspension, planetary transmission, dual ignition system, torque tube drive, multiple disc-in-oil clutch, splash lubrication, thermo-syphon cooling system—all have been features of the Ford car for eighteen years. On the whole these features cost far more to manufacture than conventional design but are used because of their superiority.

The Ford Motor Company has carried out a program of price reduction that has consistently kept Ford value supreme in the automotive industry. This has been made possible by the enormity of Ford production. With lesser resources, Ford quality would not be possible at anywhere near Ford prices.

The tremendous demand for Ford closed cars has again made possible substantial price reductions.

GOOD BROODER IS QUITE IMPORTANT

One of the most necessary appliances in the poultry business is a good brooder so the chicks can be cared for and raised successfully regardless of weather conditions.

It is a good plan to run the brooder. stove a day or two before placing the chicks around it, so that you may understand it and get the right temperature, which should be 90 to 100 degrees a foot from the hover and two inches from the floor. As the chicks get older, they will choose the desired heat and you can control the stove so as to

An inch and a half of finely cut clover or straw should be kept on the floor of the brooder house. Care should be taken to keep this litter clean, especially around the stove where it should be cleaned at least every other day. Often when brooding the early chicks it is necessary to confine them to the house for weeks. In such instances it is well to supply greens and moisture. Sod helps solve this prob-Jem. but the chicks should not be allowed to eat too much of the dirt. If the chicks seem to be too dry as shown by the condition of the fluff and feathers, it is suggested that moisture he added by placing a can of water on the stove or lightly sprinkling the. floor about the hover after removing the droppings and before putting in

One thing to bear in mind is not to overcrowd the house if you are expecting your chicks to do their best. Even in small flocks it is best to provide some means of preventing the chicks from crowding. A roosting device across the north or back side of the house will assist in the prevention of crowding. This device should be made with three roosts about eight inches apart and about twelve or fourteen inches from the floor.

It is very important that the chicks be kept free from contamination. The yards and runs should he cultivated and sown to small grain at least once rearly and the brooder house should be cleaned regularly and thoroughly.

Some Means of Dusting Is Essential in Winter

Chickens never wash, as many other birds do, but cleanse themselves by wallowing in soil. Where board or rement floors are used in the chicken house, some means for dusting should be provided during the winter months.

For a flock of 50 or 60 fawls a dust box 3 by 5 feet or 4 by 4 feet will generally be found large enough, and should be placed where it can be reached by sunlight during as much of the day as possible.

Fine, light, dry dust is the best kind with which to fill the box, but sandy loam is good. Road dust is recommended by many, but it is apt to-be fifthy. Coal or wood ashes may be mixed with the soil if desired.

Crate Fattened Fowls

Chickens that are crate fattened on the farm should be killed and dressed there unless they are sold on a special market. Packers and produce dealers who buy poultry and fatten it, object to neultry fattened in this way, as they prefer to put the finish on the birds themselves. Birds that are fed on a wet mash do not ship so well as those fattened on grain. If the birds are to be shipped and not dressed it would be better to feed them in a pen m grain.

Spray for Currants

To control aphids on currants prepare a spray by dissolving a one-inch cube of laundry soap in a gallon of water in which is mixed a teaspoonful of 40 per cent nicotine sulphate. Apply this as soon as the leaves are unfolded and see that the undersides current leaves start curling and turning red before you think they should be sprayed. Apply the spray early and then again in about ten days or two

Horticulture Hints

Apples are loaded with sunshine and cheer.

Apple, king of fruits, nature's richst gift, better than medicine.

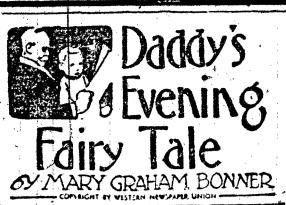

Answering a query about setting beach trees in the fall, we will sav. that we would not do it. Apple and pear trees may be set in the fall, but all stone fruits are best set in the spring.

You can trim apple trees any time after the leaves fall, and do it safely.

If the orchard has been in weeds grass or cover crop that was killed by frost the preceding fall, early in April is a good time to give it a thorough plowing. This will put the soil in good tilth for cultivation in the summer and so make available for the trees the elements of plant food which the soil may contain Orchard trees make their principal growth and demand on the soil for both water and plant food during May and June.

Good Evidence That Better Business Methods Are Being Employed.

"Special effort is made in the marketing work of the bureau to determine the kinds, quality and quantity of products which are and which should be offered for sale. In the process of distribution questions of standardization, packing assembling. transporting, warehousing, financing. and finally of retailing all call for special studies and services.

"Without broad information in re gard to general economic conditions. the farmer is not able to meet the changing conditions in domestic and world markets. Hence the need of closely co-ordinating the facts of national and world production, movements and prices for the purpose of providing a basis upon which farmers may plan their programs of work."

Alfalfa Proven Success

as Protein for Cows Alfalfa is no longer an experiment it is a proven success. With alfalfa the dairyman has good financial possibilities, but without it the future holds but little hope. Few as yet really appreciate alfalfa or they would be growing a larger acreage of it. Alfalfa yields twice the tonnage of other protein. Rightly handled it does not need to be seeded nearly as often. In total feeding value it is surpassed only in yield by corn silage and the two should go hand in hand as one balances the other. They are by far our most profitable crops, although sweet' clover pasture and corn for husking are likewise profitable. Alfalfa will do well on any good corn soil that is well drained and supplied with lime. Land manured for corn the previous year is preferable. Fell plowing insures a firmer seed hed and is to be preferred for seeding down Rolling of spring plowing is next best. In any case it will pay to fit the soil well. If the soil lacks lime, and a test will show whether it does or not, the lime can be applied any time after plowing in the fall, winter or spring. Later it should be disked in.

Easiest and Humane Way

to Dehorn Young Calves The easiest and most humane way to dehorn calves is by the use of stick caustic potash when they are but a few days old.

When the calf is four to seven days old the hair over and around the knobs that later produce horns is clipped close. The moistened end of a stick of caustic potash is then rubbed over the horn until a spot about the size of a dime becomes raw.

Grease may be applied to the outer edge of the spot to prevent spread of the caustic and making the sore larger than necessary.

The calf should be kept in the dry for a few hours after the treatment. Following the successful application of the caustic a scab will form over the knob and drop off in a few days. Stick caustic potash can be procured at a drug store for a few cents and may be kept for some time in a tightly stoppered bottle. While handling the caustic it should be wrapped in paper to prevent injury to the hands.

Paper Best Suited for Wrapping Fruit

Should Have Good Strength and Flexibility.

Prepared by the United States Department Practical tests to determine suitable papers for wrapping fruits and vegetables conducted by the bureau of chemistry of the United States Department of Agriculture show that paper for wrapping apples, oranges, lemons, pears and tomatoes should weigh 10 or 12 pounds per ream of 500 sheets 24 ban36 inches in size, and that it should have a bursting strength of not less than 6 points. It should have sufficient flexibility and strength to withstand the vigorous rapid twist given the paper in wrapping and to give a smooth, attractive appearance to the wrapped fruit. Paper complying with these require ments generally has been found satisfactory by the packers, but paper not complying with the specifications has not proved serviceable.

Wrapping papers of the right kind will retard evaporation and thus tend to keep fruits and vegetables in a fresh condition. They will reduce damage in shipment from rubbing or jarring, retard final ripening until removed by the retailer, and they will give protection from dust, frost or the sun. While it cannot be expected that one kind of paper will prove suitable for all kinds of fruits and vegetables. the specifications will enable shippers number of classes of live stock and to purchase satisfactory wrapping pa-

Helps to Control Weeds Cultivation of alfalfa may be beneficial under two conditions-when barnyard manure has been applied to the soil as a ton dressing, and when it is necessary to control weeds, according to Prof. S. C. Salmon of the department of agronomy at the Kansas State Agricultural college.

"Efficient cultivation works manure into the soil where it more readily decays and hence becomes more useful to the plants," said Professor Salmon. "There is good reason to believe that cultivation after applying manure may be beneficial for that reason. There is no experimental evidence, however, to verify or disprove this opinion.

"Bluegrass, crabgrass and foxtall which greatly damage old alfalfa fields can be practically eradicated through cultivation. When alfalfa fields are to be left for seed it may be especially desirable to remove all weeds by cultivation.

"One of the best implements for cultivation is the spring-tooth harrow. If the ground is very hard a disk harrow may be used. A good time to cultivate is early in the spring before growth starts. Cultivation immediately after removing the first crop is perhaps more effective in killing bluegrass whereas cultivation after the second or third crop is cut hays and several times the amount of may be most effective in killing crabgrass."

Cowpea Valuable as Hay

for Different Animals The cowpea is valuable for hay, being nearly equal to wheat bran in nutrition, according to the Department of Agriculture. The seed, is rich feed but is little used because of its scareity and high price. It also makes an excellent dish for human consumption and is considerably used in the South.

The seed is long lived and can be stored for long periods without loss of germinating quality but is attacked by weevils, so seed houses are forced to treat it with carbon bisulphid before storing, to kill off these pests and to i give later treatment to keep them in to nurse, or sometimes make the tests check.' While there are a number of varieties only a few are recognized as experienced except in the case of of first importance and the seed trade large litters when, for a few days is accumulating a stock of the best while they are finding their proper

There are approximately 193,000 farme in New York state, which is about three times as many as there are in the state of Washington.

Experience goes to show that there is less waste of the fertilizing elements of manure when it is spread upon the fields as fast as it accumulates.

SEX AS FACTOR IN

BEEF PRODUCTION

(Prepared by the United States Department of Agriculture.) Half of the beef calves dropped each vear are heifers. Out of this number only 25 per cent are needed for replacements in the breeding herds. That leaves three-fourths of the heifer calves for the single purpose of beef production. Unfortunately the disposal of these females has represented the most losing proposition with which the ranchman has to deal, Furthermore, he has not had the benefit of as much experimental work in the feeding of heifers as with steers.

In view of the need for more information concerning the feeding of heif. ers for beef, a concerted effort is be ing made this year by a number of -state experiment stations, co-operating with the United States Department of Agriculture, to conduct investigations which will aid the ranchman and farmer in more profitable disposal of the heifer calves in the beef herd. This is one of the many problems in beef production that are being undertaken co-operatively by the department and state stations in the recently launched movement for studying the factors which influence the quality and pala tability of meat.

At the present time light heifers set fully as high as steers of similar breed helfers are never wanted except at : discount, and there have been timein the past when all heifers have been severely discriminated against. Pack ers are frequently accused of being responsible to a large extent for this to actual inferiority of heavy heifer beef. Heavy heifers frequently carry too much external fat, a great deal of kidney suct, and make carcasses which ineed considerably more trimming than those of steers of similar weight

Although there is often no discrim nation against lightweight helfers, and not infrequently a premium is paid for them as compared with steers of similar weight, those in charge of ex perimental work feel that trials should be conducted with all classes of heifers in comparison with steers.

Sheep Husbandry Is Best

Adapted to Small Scale Sheep husbandry is well adapted to operations on a small scale and fits in well with a permanent and productive plan of farm management, as serts C. G. Elling, extension animal husbandryman at Kansas State Agri cultural college, who keeps tab on the results secured by a great number of Kansas flock owners. A farm flock of 30 to 60 ewes on the average farm in Kansas adds a nice annual income in practically every section of the state where the management has been adapted to the farm-flock plan. The flock has wide variation in size but should be large enough to justify the attention necessary for success, experience of Kansas shepherds has shown A good plan is to start in will?" grade western ewes. Elling believes They are usually rugged, good rutlers, band together well, and make successful mothers. In both muttor and wool production they are sus ceptible to rapid improvement by the use of good rams. As a rule western ewes are quite free from parasues but it is well to guard against and be on the watch for development of seab, grub in the head, and a date aging number of ticks. These pests may develop and cause losses the first

In this case it is good practi tice to cut them off with a small pair

The theory that black teeth causpigs to do poorly is not well founded and is based upon superstition rather than common sense. The teeth prondt a natural part of the pig; but : he is not doing well, the shedding of them will no doubt be delayed Black teeth should, therefore, be considered the effect of unthriftiness rather than the cause.

Big Value in Calf

Quality and feeding capacity is greater value in a calf under one your old than in older cattle. No matter how the producer of beef calves ha ures, it will pay him to use registers sires. If he has a herd less than total zows in size, he should arrange with one of his neighbors to own one good bull co-operatively. When the expense of bull maintenance may be divided by two or three, the difference in using a registered and grade buil is small

Blue Pennant Cords

HE broad, thick semi-flat tread of La blue Fennant Cords gives sure traction in the worst going, with less traction wear and consequently greater service.

The combined result of this exceptional semi-flat tread and extra strong construction is a length of easy-riding, trouble-free service which proves that equipping with Blue Pennant Cords is a distinct economy. -

He said moved grew to no better success than in Bay St. Louis and along the Gulf alone would not prove a greater incentive. There were some pretty gardens, one or others, he said smilingly, but only unfortunately the exception in this case proved the rule. ception in this case proved the rule. As a suggestion, he said the work of cultivating flowers and thus make our homes and city more attractive, would possibly be better reached than a campaign of education in our schools. Children would be quick to grasp the idea, it would prove of interest to them, and they in turn, terest to them, and they in turn, through their enthusiasm, would carry on the good work to their parents and other adults at home. At the same meeting Dr. C. N. Shipp made a plea for cleaner premises, more public cleanliness and better sanita-

Bay St. Louis Investment Property Known as National Fruit Farms

Consisting of approximately 15 acres of land, residence, etc., in residential section of city, and fronting on Dunbar Ave., being near the beach.

THE LAND is high and entirely cleared and most excellently drained by natural drainage, extremely fertile, and its shape, with Ruello St. running through its center, permits of excellent sub-division possibilities at small cost and good profits. THE IMPROVEMENTS: There are about 300 bearing pecan trees, from 10 to 15 years old, on the property, producing an abundance of extra large pecans yearly. There are also many persimmon and other trees. There is a 5-room house, with porches, in excellent condition, together with outbuildings. THE LOCATION: A stone's throw from Main St., which is paved and considered the principal residential street of Bay St. Louis.

This is the first offering of this property, which has been owned by its present owner for the past 20 years, and the price has not inflated because of speculation or otherwise. If you are looking for a location which will be revenue-producing if held in its entirety, or if you desire an investment for a quick turn-over at a good profit, call on us for additional
